CANADA'S REPRESENTATION AT EMPIRE CONFERENCE TO BE DISCUSSED NEXT WEEK

When Federal Cabinet Meets Plan for Exchange of Views in London Next October Will be Taken up; Share of Dominions in International Conferences One of Chief Subjects.

Ottawa, July 30.—Canada's representation at the forthcoming round-table conference of the Empire, which was outlined by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary in the British House of Commons yesterday, will be discussed at meetings of the Cabinet to be held next week. Communications received from the British Government so far broach the conference, suggesting October as a possible month for it, but they do not, it is understood, definitely take up the question of representation at the conference. The communications have been acknowledged, but representatives both for Canada and the other Dominions have still to be appointed.

FRANK DISCUSSION

Advices to hand indicate the conference will not be a formal Imperial Conference, but rather a frank, round-table talk on better methods of securing Dominion representation at international conferences, improvements in the communication of information between the governments of the Empire and continuous consultation in formulating policies affecting the Empire as a whole. It was in connection with this that the difficulties arose over the Empire's attitude toward the Treaty of Lausanne and subsequently in regard to Canadian representation at the Inter-allied Conference on the reparations experts' report now meeting in London. In respect to Dominion representation at international conferences, there is also the attitude of foreign powers to be considered.

OPPOSITION LEADERS

When the round-table conference was first mooted Mr. Thomas suggested that it should consist of representatives of the opposition as well as the governments of the Empire. As far as the opposition is concerned, no formal proposal to this effect has come from the Colonial Secretary, and it should come to be felt that it would be practicable. It is questioned in respect to Dominion representation at international conferences, there is also the attitude of foreign powers to be considered.

B. Hal Brown Urges Conservative Industrial Development

Finds Business on Coast Better Than on Prairies

"A conservative development policy on the part of British Columbia industries, backed by good legislation in connection with the development of your natural resources is the best system for this Province," stated B. Hal Brown, J. P., President and General Manager of the Prudential Trust Company, Limited, who is in the city from the coast.

Mr. Brown, who is making a periodical inspection of the extensive investments of the company in the West, says that British Columbia appears in a far better financial position than the adjacent provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, and that there is a feeling of greater stability among business people on the coast than on the prairies, anxiety on the prairies being doubtless due to the crop situation.

"There is a great interest in the Stewart camp on the part of eastern investors," Mr. Brown observed, "and plenty of money for investments in mining and other enterprises, provided they are well managed. This condition of investment prevails in spite of the great interest in the financiers in the New Ontario fields, but what I would like to do would be to sound a note of warning with regard to the danger of fostering one or two wild cat schemes in which money is lost, and thereby damaging the prestige of the whole mining industry in the Province."

He intends to be in Victoria some days, and will look into investments of the company while on the coast.

OVER 500 MEN IN KU KLUX KLAN FIGHT

Scores Injured During Disturbance in Field Near Lancaster, Mass.

Fifty Had to be Treated at Hospitals; Police Dispersed Big Throng

Lancaster, Mass., July 30.—After a night of disorders and clashes in which scores were injured, a crowd of men who had engaged in hostilities with members and spectators at a Ku Klux Klan meeting in a field near here were dispersed with the arrival of additional state patrolmen today. Between 500 and 800 men had engaged in the fighting.

The list of those hurt included fifty men whose injuries required treatment at hospitals. One was a police man who was struck on the head by a stone.

One of the injured was suffering from a broken back and three others were suffering from wounds believed to have been caused by a shotgun loaded with rock salt.

Many others are known to have been hurt by clubs, flying stones and other missiles. Two automobiles were partly demolished by missiles.

Roy G. Rogers, of Clinton, a spectator at the Klan meeting, suffered a fracture of the back. His condition is serious.

Paul Kittredge of Clinton is suffering with forty-three ribs believed to have been caused by rock salt discharged from a gun. He is expected to recover.

NINE ROBBERIES WITH VIOLENCE IN VANCOUVER SINCE JUNE 15

Vancouver, July 30.—Apparently following their victims from rooms on Cordova Street West, where they said they had been playing cards, two armed and masked bandits held up John Osterick and Tom Gregor at Princess Avenue and Prior Street and robbed them of $425 and $37 respectively.

The two men had been gambling, they told the police, and were proceeding home shortly after midnight when they were stopped by the two men, who wore handkerchiefs as masks.

This brings the list of robberies with violence in Vancouver since June 15 to nine.

THREE U.S. PLANES ARRIVE AT KIRK WALL, ORKNEYS, AND ARE TO LEAVE THERE FOR ICELAND PORT

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, July 30.—The United States round-the-world fliers, on their way homeward, arrived here from Brough, England, at 4.10 o'clock this afternoon.

Weather conditions were ideal for the flight. There was a fifteen-mile southwesterly wind and a visibility of twenty miles.

The landing place at Houton Bay is so close to the scene of the scuttling of the German fleet that the hulks of several of the sunken war craft are plainly visible from it.

Departure from Brough. Brough, Eng., July 30.—The United States army aviators continued their world flight, hopping off this morning for Kirkwall, capital of the Orkney Islands, off the northern coast of Scotland. Thus began the first leg of their journey over the Atlantic by way of Iceland and Greenland to Indian Harbor, Labrador.

Kirkwall, a town of 3,500, is situated on Houton Bay, on the northeastern side of the island of Mainland, sometimes called Bona, the largest of the Orkney group. Stores of oil and gasoline were put there and towboats and repair men were notified to be ready in case they should be needed.

The six men were all in the best of health and spirits. Before leaving the ground, Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the flying commander, said he expected to reach Kirkwall in about six hours, and that the departure from that place would be made to-morrow or Friday. There was no official ceremony at the send-off.

WINNIPEG PRICES

Winnipeg, July 30.—With the Liverpool market 2 1/2 d. lower at 2 o'clock Greenwich time and the early weather reports indicating favorable conditions throughout the Canadian prairie region, wheat prices opened sharply lower here to-day and during the first hour of trading July wheat was fairly steady around $1.47 1/2, while October held between $1.38 1/2 and $1.39. Reports from United States crop experts were not so pessimistic and the reports of better conditions resulted in a decreased buying power. Trade was fairly active. Coarse grains followed wheat, with only a moderate business passing.

Well-Known Local Collector Recognizes Rare Canadian Issue

Specimens Compare With Copies in Famous Ferrari Collection

One of the most remarkable philatelic discoveries of recent years has been made in Victoria lately. This is the transfer of a pair of the twelve penny black stamps of Canada. Originally issued on June 14, 1851, as many as 51,000 of the stamps were printed, but only 1,510 were delivered and sold by postmasters. The remainder were destroyed by the Government in consequence of the small number of these stamps that were used for postage. Very few of them survived for collectors and are now sold to-day as among the world's stamp rarities.

Counsel Starts Fight to Save Lives of Leopold and Loeb

Insanity Cannot be Offered as Defence, Says Judge

Chicago, July 30.—The big legal fight by attorneys for Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, confessed murderers of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks, to save them from the gallows broke out in Judge John R. Caverly's court here to-day. The engagement opened when Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, after resting his own case, sought to shut out all testimony, even though experts relating to the mental responsibilities of the youthful defendants. He maintained the plea of guilty prevented them from showing any state of mind as a mitigation of punishment, and with his assistants continued the argument throughout the morning session. Judge Caverly said he would overrule the objection. The defence counsel told the judge they had a right to show that the defendants had acted in the circumstances of the crime and the court indicated he agreed with them.

HART TO REMAIN UNTIL SUCCESSOR HAS BEEN CHOSEN

Agrees to Carry on Temporarily; Dr. MacLean May Be New Finance Minister

Until the Government has had an opportunity to lay its plans for the future, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, will remain in office, although his resignation has been in Premier Oliver's hands for some time. Mr. Hart, it is understood, is anxious to be relieved of his portfolio so that he may resume his private business, but he has agreed to carry on until a successor has been appointed. A general Cabinet shuffle appears to be in prospect now as a result of Mr. Hart's retirement. Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary, is generally considered as Mr. Hart's probable successor. If Dr. MacLean took over the Finance portfolio he would drop some of his present work, which includes the administration of the Education Department and the Railway Department. Arrangements for Premier Oliver's election in one of the several constituencies offered to him will be made shortly, it is expected. Nelson Oliver and his doubt as to whether he is thought to be the probable successor. A definite announcement on the Premier's plans may be expected soon.

from the bottom left hand corner of the sheet and have the full sheet margin on two sides. They have also the original gum upon them, a condition in which these old stamps are rarely found, and are as immaculate as upon the day they were sold, having lain in the cool recesses of a safety deposit vault practically since the day they were issued. Mr. Angus states to The Times.

FAMOUS FERRARI COLLECTION

Only one pair in an unused condition had hitherto been discovered, and this pair was for many years in the collection of Count de la Renotiere Ferrari. Count Ferrari left his collection to the Berlin Museum, but dying in Paris during the war, his collection was seized by the French Government as enemy property and is being dispersed in a series of sales that have already realized over half a million dollars. Count Ferrari's pair of the 12d black Canada realized the sum of 28,000 francs at the May sale of 1922, or approximately $4,000 at the then current rate of exchange.

THE PORTRAIT

Mr. Angus states that in 1851 the silver shilling had a different value in New England, New York, and Upper and Lower Canada. Hence to avoid confusion the stamps were designated "twelve pence," the copper penny being standard in all these provinces. The head of Queen Victoria depicted upon the stamps is from a full length painting by Alfred Edward Chalon, R.A., which picture was ordered to be painted by Her Majesty as a souvenir for her mother of Her Majesty's first visit as Queen to the House of Lords.

RENEWED ACTIVITY IN HOME BUILDING

Permits Taken Out in City in July Swells Rapidly Growing Total

Building permits for the first seven months of this year have been helped in their climb to last year's total by the spurt in building evidenced during the last two weeks. The total for this month to date amounts to $21,149 for forty permits issued, several new bungalows and expensive homes being included in this month's total. July has been the heaviest month of the year for home building and August promises to be another heavy month. The permits for July last year numbered five less than this month, but totaled $152,815. Last year in July, however, the permit was taken out for the Bank of Nova Scotia, amounting to $117,000. For the first seven months of the year to date the permits have amounted to $469,176. The first seven months of last year they amounted to $575,960.

LAWYERS IN SHARP CONTEST IN CHICAGO

The discussion again revolved around the relation of "mental disease" to insanity, and whether a degree of responsibility was a competent subject for consideration. Finally Judge Caverly allowed the state to proceed.

ALL TIME THEY WISH

"Take all the time you wish," the court told the prosecutors. "Two lives are at stake here." Judge Caverly, however, called Mr. Crowe's attention to the fact that eighty witnesses had testified for the state in order to give the court information as to facts. He indicated it would be only equitable to allow similar leeway to the defence.

Chicago, July 30.—The state rested in the Franks case to-day at 10:07 a.m.

The defence then started testimony in the hearing, which is to determine the punishment of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb for the kidnapping and murder of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks.

Frank A. Shear was the last witness for the state. He testified merely that he had taken Loeb's confession the night of May 30.

During the argument Judge Caverly declared the defence would not be permitted to go into evidence of insanity and demanded to know from the state whether it had any authorities to show what would prevent him from hearing evidence as to state of mind or in mitigation.

TIME NOT WASTED

After the argument had lasted ninety minutes and got back to the state's accusation under the defence was trying to plead both sane and insane at the same time, Walter Bachrach, counsel for the defence, suggested that "an hour and a half has been wasted."

"No," said Judge Caverly. "It has not been wasted. The court will take a day and a half on this if necessary."

DENIALS READ

Leopold and Loeb yesterday heard read in court their denials and their confessions of the crime.

Benjamin Bachrach, one of the attorneys for the boys, helped get into the record this final stage of the state's presentation of evidence by reading the prosecution's transcription of the boys' admissions.

The boys listened with little change of expression until Mr. Bachrach reached a passage in which Leopold quoted a profane exclamation made to his brother when he had been found in the culvert in which he and Loeb had hidden the body of the Franks boy. When this came in, Mr. Bachrach's clear voice, both defendants grinned.

Other points that amused the defendants included Leopold's confession that he was an expert automobile driver and his doubt as to whether he was his favorite beverage.

DENIES THERE IS GOD

At one point in the reading Leopold's ideas on religion were worked into the record.

"There is no God," he was quoted as saying. "I do not believe in a future life. When I die, I die all over. Of course that is only an opinion and it can be demonstrated only by dis-

BOY WITNESS

A schoolboy was a witness at the hearing yesterday. He went into the witness box clad in his boy's knicker and jacket. His sport shirt had no collar and his stockings rolled down, exposing bare knees.

He turned to the clerk and held up his hand to be sworn, but the judge surrounding the judicial bench and asked:

"How old are you, Johnny?"

"Nine and a half," said the boy.

"Do you go to school and do you know what it means to tell the truth?"

"Sure."

"Do you know what it is to swear falsely?"

"Yes."

"And what they do with people who swear falsely?"

"Put them in jail," said Johnny, and he and the judge chuckled.

Then the boy took the formal oath and in a few words told of seeing Loeb in the school yard. He was asked what he saw and he responded:

"Why did he say that?" asked the state's attorney.

"Because we were playing baseball," explained Johnny.

On cross-examination, Benjamin Bachrach, of defence counsel, brought out that the boy had no other business in Chicago except to testify at the hearing.

The Johnny took his boyish budge away out of the courtroom and the proceedings settled back to the tragic realities of a fight to save two nineteen-year-old college students from the gallows.

NOT MUCH INTERESTED
Back in their cells after the day's session of the court, Loeb said:

"The reading of the confessions was not particularly interesting as far as I was concerned. I have heard them over and over."

In fact most of the proceedings were rather tiresome. Occasionally Loeb and Loeb were excited when some witness testified we said something which we never said, but otherwise it was slightly dull."

Man and Woman Missing Since Sunday Evening; Police Investigate

Peterboro, Ont., July 30.—No trace of the bodies has been found and no further clue uncovered in a supposed double drowning at Nassau, Deseronto, near Peterboro. The missing persons are Samuel Taylor, district manager of the Confederation Life Association, and Mrs. Joseph Sharpe. It is now known that Sunday night was the time of their disappearance, a car having been driven to the dam that night. Absolute silence was maintained until yesterday morning. Taylor's car, a man's hat and a woman's hat were found on the bank. Taylor on Monday mailed to Ross Dobbin the keys of a lodge which he had held for years and certain books and papers. No explanation was enclosed.

Inquiries show that Taylor left home about 7 o'clock saying he was going to Haliburton.

Further investigation will be made.

FIRE SITUATION AGAIN DANGEROUS

The forest fire situation in British Columbia has reached a dangerous stage again as a result of the present spell of hot, dry weather throughout the Province, the weekly fire bulletin of the Lands Department says to-day. The recent hot spell has again brought about a very dangerous situation, the bulletin declares, and adds that all districts are reported now as being "hazardous." So far this year there have been 1,275 forest fires, as compared with 422 at this time last year, and 1,532 in 1922. Vancouver district, with 208 outbreaks, has suffered most to date.

AUTHORITIES ARE AGAINST RECOUNT

such could not apply on affidavit. Further, held counsel, the affidavits disclosed no specific allegation of illegality or reason why there should be a recount granted.

After the citation of legal references, His Honor ruled that the application would be dismissed. Though an appointment had been made for the recount it was made in the sense of the latest authorities on the subject, and he could not in the face of those authorities proceed.

Only two votes separated Dr. McIntosh from Col. Peck on the final count. On a recount at the time of the election one box made up the difference and brought both candidates to a tie, another box returned the majority of Col. Peck. The final count stood: Col. Peck, Conservative, 532; Dr. McIntosh, Provincialist, 531; B. Jackson, K.C., Liberal, 554. From the refusal of the County Court judge to open a recount of the ballots the applicant may appeal further under the provisions of the act. The intention to do so was not directly expressed, but was hinted at by counsel at the close of the hearing.

"The Shepherd King" is Now Showing at Pantages

The story of "The Shepherd King," the William Fox version of the celebrated stage success by W. L. Lorrimer and Arnold Reeves, showing at the Pantages Theatre, is one of impressive simplicity endowed with a glamorous romance.

It is the story of a persistent love that flourished as well in the days of the pyramid's desert shadows as it does to-day on the light-blotched lanes of Broadway. The ardent diminutive David inspired with love for Princess Michal quenched the forces that stood between them. One of these was the staunch and overpowering giant, Goliath, the other the inimical Saul, King of the Israelites and father of the girl.

When "The Shepherd King" was produced on the New York stage in 1904, critics acclaimed it one of the most powerful love stories ever told. The metropolitan press, devoted columns in eulogy of the author-actor's performance. When the production went on tour, dramatic writers throughout the nation added to the cumulative praise already contributed to the offering.

In adapting the stage presentation to the screen, Virginia Tracy, who also translated "Nero," another Fox special, lost none of the potency of the original. J. Gordon Edwards, who directed the picture added to the story by filming it in the very land in which it is laid.

Zane Grey's Picture
Now Occupies Screen
at Dominion

The unfolding on the screen of Paramount's widely heralded "Wanderer of the Wasteland," more than fulfilled the high expectations aroused by the advance reports that had been circulated about it. It is now showing at the Dominion Theatre.

"Wanderer of the Wasteland," adapted from Zane Grey's well-known story, marks a radical advance in photoplay production. The view of the fact that the picture was photographed entirely in color, something heretofore never attempted in a full-length feature. Aside from its novelty, the picture proves conclusively that colored photography, the philosopher's stone of the motion picture world, has at last been perfected for practical purposes.

Zane Grey has reason to feel mighty grateful to Irvin Willat, who directed the picture. Mr. Willat left nothing undone that would insure a de-luxe production. The actual scenes mentioned in Mr. Grey's book—the mountain and desert country of Arizona and Death Valley, California—were used as backgrounds for the swiftly-moving story so that we see Nature's handiwork in all its marvelous gorgeous colorings.

A well-nigh perfect cast was picked to interpret the various roles. Jack Holt makes an ideal hero, Billie Dove is a vision of loveliness, Noah Beery is a "desert rat" and Kathryn Williams has a fine role.

Colleen Moore
Early Showed Brain as "Showman"

"No boys admitted." This was the clever exploitation scheme hit upon by a bevy of girls who gave a circus in Tampa, Fla. As a result, they had their biggest show and cleared all of $2 in pennies collected from each spectator.

But let Colleen Moore, beautiful First National star of "The Perfect Flapper," now at the Capitol Theatre, tell the story.

"We girls had been giving shows, having formed ourselves into a sort of juvenile stock company. We got our plots from moving pictures and they had such titles as 'The Princess' and 'The Dinosaur.' Then we decided to branch out and stage a circus."

"Of course, we wanted as many to come as possible. So we racked our brains to find a way to draw the crowd. At last we hit on the cry of 'No boys admitted.' Think of a bunch of school girls deciding on 'that.' But we felt it had a psychological urge."

"And it worked. The crowd came from all over the Hyde Park section and sat on fences, roof-tops and boxes. They perched on telephone poles and climbed into trees. And when we counted up the receipts, at a penny each, we had something over $2."

Which goes to show that the clever Colleen had Showmanship as well as acting in her brain when she was preparing for the starring career that is finding its greatest brilliance in "The Perfect Flapper," which was filmed by First National under the direction of John Francis Dillon with a cast including Sydney Chaplin, Phyllis Haver, Frank Mayo, Lydia Knott, Charles Wellesley and others. It was adapted by Earl Hudson from the Ainslee Magazine story, "The Mouth of the Dragon," by Jessie Henderson.

Is Story of Regeneration
of a Crook

"Love's Whirlpool," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, the new James Kirkwood-Lila Lee picture, is a story with a powerful theme. It deals not only with the regeneration of a master crook and a hard-hearted banker, through love, but shows how the credulous public is hoodwinked by fake seances.

Madge Bellamy is featured with James Kirkwood and Lila Lee. Others in cast are Robert Agnew, Matthew Betz, Margaret Livingston, Clarence Geldert and Joe Mills.

Thrills of Days
in Prairie Wagons

James Cruze, producer of the Paramount picture, "The Covered Wagon," which will be shown at the Royal Victoria Theatre week of August 11 with two performances daily at 2:30 and 8:30, says it is the greatest picture ever made. It is certainly a pretentious screen offering, the story of which deals with the love trials of a young couple while traveling across the continent in a wagon.

Indian attacks, the fording of swollen streams, a genuine buffalo hunt, a prairie fire and many other dramatic incidents are a few thrills which this superior screen offering presents to the motion picture public.

"Women Men Marry" is Feature at the Playhouse

In Edward Dillon's production, "Women Men Marry," the interest is sustained and builds towards a climax that carries quite a force, or rather it is an anti-climax which has the most punch. But it was necessary in this case in order to furnish a surprise ending. Dillon succeeded in keeping his development from becoming obvious and in this way holding attention throughout and increasing the interest as he builds toward the climax.

The story opens with a novel situation, that in which a rich man adopts the little daughter of his cook and butler to take the place of a baby daughter who died at birth, together with his wife. The understanding is that the child's parents will be retained in his employ but the child must be taught to believe that her foster-father is her real parent. There are some effective heart-interest touches, one particularly in which the girl's real mother prepares a cake with "welcome home" upon her return from Europe and the offering is resented by the haughty girl.

The best of the story is the man's will which leaves everything to his young wife, but after a certain length of time another will is found in which the girl receives her share, the explanation being that the deceased took this means of preventing the girl's marriage to a fortune-hunting Englishman who, he believed, would not marry her when she was penniless.

Florence Dixon, the heroine, is quite pleasing and Margaret Seddon is sweet as the mother; Hedda Hopper does well as the young wife of the girl's foster-father and Cyril Chadwick is fine as the Englishman. The picture will show at the Playhouse to-night.

ATTRACTIVE SPY PLAY

After some weeks of farces, musical and otherwise, the Playhouse Company this week is offering to its patrons a dramatic comedy of more than usual merit. "Who Stayed at Home" is well-known as one of the most successful of the spy plays which were produced during the war and as such is attracting attention by the many who have not yet had the opportunity of seeing it. In its potted form it loses nothing of its punch as the story has in no way been disturbed and it is safe to say that the acting is of a high order.

SIR HENRY THORNTON SPOKE IN VANCOUVER

C.N.R. President Told Mainlanders About Problems of System

Vancouver, July 30.—Speaking at a luncheon tendered in his honor by the Vancouver Canadian Club and the Board of Trade yesterday, Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, declared that he was a comparatively easy matter to keep politics out of the purchasing and other departments of the railway, but that it was most difficult to meet unfair criticism made for political prestige.

"The time should come," he continued, "when the political parties should feel they have a direct interest in the railway of the people. The railway belongs to no political party, and one way to keep the railway proper representation to all political parties, with men of outstanding business ability representing each political group."

CROW'S NEST RATES
Sir Henry told his hearers serious consequence might result from the rates under the Crow's Nest agreement, should this mean a general reduction of freight rates throughout Canada.

"If the restoration of the Crow's Nest agreement means a new and lower scale of freight rates throughout Canada, then I can say the position of the two great railway systems will be serious," he said.

TAYLOR CHARGES
Sir Henry was quite frank in discussing the charges against the officers of his company made at Ottawa by Senator J. D. Taylor of New Westminster.

"When these charges were made, I took immediate steps to secure the most complete information from British Columbia," he said. "I secured this from more than one channel and from investigators in whom I had the utmost confidence. I have no desire to bolster up officials of the road with whom I am not in accord, but at the same time if the Canadian National is to have loyal, efficient service from its employees, it must stand behind its officers and men when it is of the opinion that they are working for the best interests of the company. This I propose to do and until it is proved that the men in British Columbia are incompetent or have done wrong, they have the utmost support of the company."

PLANNING TO AMEND THE IRISH TREATY

British Government Intends to Introduce Bill for Boundary Settlement

London, July 30.—Legislation to amend the treaty between Britain and Ireland is foreshadowed in the newspapers. It is stated the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which was recently entrusted with the task of examining the position created by Ulster's refusal to appoint a representative on the Boundary Commission, has unanimously decided that the only way to constitute the committee is by new legislation which will bind both the Northern and Southern Governments of Ireland.

The British Government is said to contemplate introduction of a bill at an early date, although it is recognized that such a measure would be severely controversial, would create serious trouble for the Ministry and prolong the session of Parliament.

CANADA REPRESENTED

Ottawa, July 30.—Canada was represented by Mr. Justice Duff of the Supreme Court on the Privy Council board which examined into the constitutional question whether the British Government could constitute the Irish Boundary Commission so long as the Government of Ulster refused to appoint a representative on the commission. The board was chosen by the Lord Chancellor and was representative of the Dominions and India as well as Great Britain.

SURPLUS EXPECTED IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Government's Revenue During Present Year Probably Will Be $9,000,000

St. John's, Nfld., July 30.—A deficit of more than $1,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30 last is shown in the report of Sir John Crook, Minister of Finance of Newfoundland, in the annual budget statement, which was presented to the Legislature yesterday.

In his report the Minister stated the deficit was due in part to the removal of duties and partly to large overdrafts, which he asserted were avoidable if proper economy were exercised.

For the current year, according to the report, it is estimated the revenues will total approximately $9,000,000, and give surplus of $1,000,000.

Emphasis was placed on conditions which obtained during the last two years as shown in the report of the Hollis Walker Commission, which investigated alleged irregularities during the administration of Sir Richard Squire.

DOMINION REPRESENTATION

MR. J. H. THOMAS told the British House of Commons yesterday afternoon that His Majesty's Government was determined to alter the whole system of Dominion representation at international gatherings. He pointed out in plain language that the position which the nations within the Empire occupy at the inter-Allied Conference was not satisfactory.

Once more the Colonial Secretary declared that the British Government was determined to "straighten these things out" and to bring about a Conference of all the Dominions, where "we will sit around the table and drag these things out as friends, freely and frankly." Mr. Thomas hopes to arrange for this Empire gathering to take place in October and he is desirous that a genuine attempt shall be made "to put Imperial unity on a sound basis."

The official announcement which Mr. Thomas has made will be warmly welcomed by the Governments and peoples of the Dominions. The question of Dominion representation where the foreign policy of the British Empire is concerned is not a matter for political controversy. When there seemed to be a doubt as to whether Senator Belcourt would be permitted to sit in at the gathering which is now proceeding in London the Prime Minister did not have to invite the support of the Leader of the Opposition. Mr. Meighen instantly took the view that Mr. Mackenzie King was on firm ground in insisting that the Canadian status of equality which was recognized at Versailles and confirmed at Washington should not be challenged or ignored as it was at Lusanne.

Incidentally it is amusing to discover that the gentleman who turns the wheels of the Opposition Leader's propaganda factory at Ottawa—under the direction of Dr. Tolmie—should forget Mr. Meighen's attitude on this important matter. He says that "what is fortunate for Canada is that a Labor Government should be in power in Britain when Premier King is remaking the constitution." And he proceeds with the suggestion that "if it had been a Conservative Government in control in England, what a chance there would have been for Premier King to denounce it as seeking to make Canada revert to a colonialist status and place us under the control of Downing Street!"

The Prime Minister of Canada is not concerned with the political stripe of the dominating party in the British House of Commons, and this enthusiastic publicist under Dr. Tolmie apparently is quite out of touch with British sentiment and apparently does not read the more influential British newspapers. If he were he would at least avoid such stupid misconceptions of the march of the times. He will have learned, however, that Mr. L. S. Amery, First Lord of the Admiralty in the late Conservative Government, considered it "was a little unfortunate that this question of representation for the Dominions should have arisen in connection with the inter-Allied Conference so soon after the Lausanne Treaty incident."

Mr. Amery was still more emphatic, and obviously represented the view of the Conservatives, when he said that "the make-shift arrangement at the last moment was unsatisfactory," and that "the spirit of equality and the status between nations and the Empire were being violated if the United Kingdom had a representative continuously at the Conference and the Dominions had only partial representation through the panel."

Dr. Tolmie really ought to see that Tory propaganda conformed to the attitude of his chief. What will Mr. Meighen say when he finds that his own organizer is responsible for greasing the Conservative stairs?

WILL FRANCE LET GO?

FOR the first time since the Allies split on the process that should be employed to bring Germany into a paying mood there is now a substantial prospect that France will surrender what she considers her right under the Treaty of Versailles to separate action against the debtor nation in case of a reparations default under the Dawes proposal.

This would be a long step towards a settlement of the whole problem as far as Allied action is concerned. It would mean that the principle of the Dawes plan—long ago accepted by all the nations involved—could be applied in such a way as to produce payments satisfactory to France and furnish guarantees which would meet the demands of the bankers from whom the money must be obtained to launch the scheme.

Withdrawal from the Ruhr will not suit the followers of former Premier Poincare; but unless Premier Herriot is prepared to give Germany an opportunity to show her good faith through the operation of the Dawes plan, the launching of which is dependent upon the prime guarantee to the bankers that German economic control of the Ruhr is restored, the Conference will end in failure and the present unsatisfactory state of affairs in Continental Europe will be prolonged. In the event of such a development, France would obviously lose more than she would gain.

The case now, then, is more in the hands of the bankers than in the hands of statesmen. They have been called in to find money for a certain plan to restore normal conditions and provide for the payment of reparations by Germany. If France's offer leaves them what is tantamount to an adequately protected first mortgage the loan will be forthcoming and the scheme will have its trial.

THE P.G.E.

IT is high time that the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was lifted out of the political atmosphere. Most people will agree with the Attorney-General when he says that it has been looked upon as a party football long enough.

The P.G.E. is not an imaginary railway system. It exists and represents an investment of about $40,000,000 of the people's money. It is not paying and will not pay for some considerable time to come. But the day has gone when the line has to be regarded as nothing but a hopeless liability. It can be made to pay if the people will regard it as an asset of early producing possibilities.

The railway will not pay if it is to be fed with political controversy. It requires a more liberal diet of freight and passenger traffic. That can be secured by a more intensive settlement of the country through which it has been built. But there is strange irony in the fact that the very people who are blaming the Oliver Government for the present burden of taxation in the Province are the people who were responsible for the project, and what is more to the point, are the very people who have attempted to thwart every attempt of the Government to bring in more settlers.

British Columbia must regard the P.G.E. as an investment worth looking after. It is the property of the people and it is to their interest to give their own money a chance to earn a profit.

THE SAFETY VALVE

"SERIOUS trouble is bound to occur if the practice of allowing agitators to express revolutionary views at Hyde Park is not stopped. I believe I am right in saying that, for Canada, we want this vicious propaganda stopped."

These are the words of Colonel Hatch, President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who is at present in London as a delegate from this country to the meetings which are being held in connection with Empire trade.

Colonel Hatch will not be taken seriously. That small area just South of the Marble Arch is Britain's safety valve. For the last fifty years all mankind's grievances, real and fancied, have been aired there. How to remake the world and hasten the Millennium is a favorite topic. Red revolution and the Golden Rule are preached with regularity from adjoining "platforms." So it will continue and no harm will be done.

All the highly colored ravings mix with the gentle zephyrs. Their exponents are satisfied that they are performing a great service to humanity and the Sunday strollers who tarry and listen are amused. But this is much safer than garret-hatched plots. Communism and anarchy cannot stand the open air.

John Bull is considerate, however; he makes sure that a policeman is near at hand to prevent the Sunday afternoon crowd from substituting its tolerant amusement by active resentment. And the sedition-monger knows this.

Defeats No. 11 and 12 were sustained by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's Government on Monday. It may soon be necessary to appoint an official scorer.

Reports from over the line indicate that the roads are almost black with auto tourists heading for Vancouver Island. The more the merrier, say we.

At a Liberal Garden Fete recently Mrs. H. H. Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George appeared on the same platform. Not so very long ago it looked as if these two could never get within a mile of one another without a scrap. But the platform seems to have stood the shock.

It is to be hoped that Premier King can fit in his tour of the West in time to take part in the Empire Conference which Mr. Thomas hopes to stage in London in October. The Prime Minister obviously should head Canada's delegation.

HELP FOR FISHERMEN

From The Scotsman

The promise made by the Secretary for Scotland to bring hardships of the fishermen before the treasury has eventuated in the announcement that £150,000 will be granted to meet half the cost of renewing gear as a temporary measure to meet "a special and not recurring emergency." Hardships having continued notwithstanding the advent of a Labor government, the old-fashioned plan of helping a distressed industry by a state grant apparently has its good points after all.

THE DREAMER

Beyond the plain and mountain crest,
Beyond the surge of sea on sea,
The day has glorified the west,
And left an empty sky to me.

The song of wind is hushed, and low
The ghostly night-fog bends the grass
Beneath the marshy trees, where rows
On row the chanting spirit's pass.

The throbbing pulse of town is still
As friends with friends clasp hands in sleep,
The night is bed-mate of the hill,
But I, alone, a vigil keep.

They sleep who hunger nor of soul
Content to play the common role
And dumb within its prison wait.

A shallow grave I lonely wait
My spirit lured by witching dreams
Beyond the realm of life's estate
Where westward light eternal beams.

Dr. Frank Crane on

"Intimacies"

(Copyright)

MOST problems in life are problems of intimacies.

What makes marriage so difficult is that it is a great intimacy.

People are so constituted that they cannot get along very well together unless they run in certain grooves and attend certain formalities.

There are very few people with whom you can be free and careless. The first thing you know there will be a blow-up.

It is essential that husband and wife remain polite to each other. When they cease being so marriage is in danger.

Very often the complaint that people are formal is a complaint against shyness and not against exclusiveness.

Many people are not cordial and open for the simple reason that they do not want to be hurt. They have found out by experience that most people take advantage of intimacies to annoy them. Hence they retreat behind the veil of ceremony.

There are very few people in the world with whom we want to be intimate, or can afford to be. Intimacy requires understanding and understanding requires love.

To find an understanding love that forgives all because it comprehends all is very rare. It is for this reason that we must treat everybody with uniform courtesy.

Intimacies are trials of the soul. Our children come to know us and our wife comes to know us as no one else does.

That is the principal reason why most people get along so well with their families. They are compelled to be great. It does not matter so much if they are good or not.

But it is impossible to live with anyone very long on terms of great intimacy who is not great.

Champlain and the Savages

ON account of the failure of his attempt at colonization in Acadia, the present Nova Scotia, Champlain founded in the Summer of 1608, on behalf of his fur company, the outpost of Quebec. Champlain had come to stay. Though himself a fur-trader and a great company scientific representative of the King of France who claimed all this region by right of Jacques Cartier's voyages hither, yet from the first he had made up his mind that the future belonged to the farmer, and he envisioned a prosperous French people taming the wilderness and filling the fertile valley of the St. Lawrence.

Before Champlain had arrived from his labors in Acadia, the French, surrounded by and trading with Agouégonis and their allies, the Hurons, at Tadoussac, where the Saguenay rolls down into the St. Lawrence, had pledged military aid in the deadly struggle against the aggressive and aggressive Iroquois, the most highly organized, the fiercest and most politic race of all these regions, who lived south of Lake Ontario and between Lake Champlain and Lake Erie. Champlain had no choice but to promise them support, nor is he to be blamed for it as numbers of writers have blamed him.

SO, having promised in 1608 to accompany a raiding party into the Iroquois country, after his first winter spent at Quebec, on June 28, 1609, he set out in a shallop with twelve armed men, and accompanied by a swarm of Algonquins from the Ottawa River and of Hurons from the southern shores of Georgian Bay, racially close relatives of their enemies the Iroquois, he proceeded up the St. Lawrence, noting carefully the distinctive features of the country, and rejecting in the scenery. Past Three Rivers, through Lake St. Peter with its maze of lovely islands, to the mouth of the Richelieu River, where to-day stands the city of Sorel, they moved leisurely on. Here, during a two days' halt for the hunters to replenish the commissariat, there arose a dispute among the Indians. As a result, the majority decided to go home to their wives instead of to the war. Up the Richelieu proceeded the much reduced party till, at Chambly Basin, Champlain discovered that his boat could not be got over the rapids. He sent it back to Tadoussac with ten men. Two volunteers he kept with him, and they went on in the canoe with the savages.

The islands of the Richelieu delighted Champlain as did those of Lake Champlain, which he at this time named after himself, and as also did the mountain-setting of this beautiful water. As the Indians approached the southern end they began to practice their battle drill. Then, one evening, just at dusk, they came upon an Iroquois war party paddling round the point afterwards to become so famous as Ticonderoga, where the outlet of Lake George dashes down the rapids into Lake Champlain. Both sides yelled fiercely at each other. The Iroquois went ashore and commenced a barricade of logs, and the Hurons, lashing their canoes together, stayed all night on the water.

"THE whole night," writes Champlain, "was passed in dances and songs as much on one side as on the other, with endless insults—and much other talk, as is customary in the siege of a city. My companions and I remained for fear that the enemy should see us, preparing our arms the best that we could, separated each in his own place. In the morning, the Iroquois ashore, naked and stamping and whooping their war-dances around the leaping fires, and the shrieking Hurons on the water, plainly visible in the red glow from the beach.

At length dawned the light of July 30. After arming ourselves with light armor, each of us took an arquebuse and went ashore. I saw the enemy come out of their barricade, nearly two hundred men, strong and robust to look at, coming slowly toward us with a dignity and assurance that pleased me very much. At their head there were three chiefs. The Hurons advanced at first at the run, then slowly. Then they hesitated, called on Champlain; and opened a lane for him from the rear where he had been concealed. The Iroquois came on steadily and in sternest silence, contrasting most favorably to Champlain with the howling mob which he was accompanying. "I marched about twenty paces in front of them until they were thirty paces from the enemy. They at once saw me and halted, looking at me, and I at them. When I saw them making a move to shoot at us, I readied my arquebuse against my cheek and aimed directly at one of the three chiefs. With the same shot two of them fell to the ground, and one of their companions, who was wounded and afterward died." They at once fled, and the Hurons followed. The Iroquois were agitated, but loosed their flight of arrows. At this moment Champlain's men, who had stolen unobserved into the woods, fired from cover. Panic-stricken at this supernatural agency of destruction, the Iroquois broke and fled. The Hurons pursued yelling in the insane fury of their triumph. The Hurons started homeward, torturing their prisoners one by one from time to time, to Champlain's intense disgust and indignation.

DIET AND CANCER

To the Editor:—One of the chief points of interest attaching to your article on diet in The Times of July 28, is the importance of diet in the prevention of disease. It has been steadily maintained that the use of refined and adulterated foods, instead of fresh eating and excessive use of stimulants are contributory causes and Sir John Arbuthnot Lane's pronouncement, against the use of white bread is valuable testimony, albeit this has been said hundreds of times already by hundreds of medical men. As I have had occasion to point out before, the prevalence of the dread disease of cancer increases alarmingly despite the thousands of pounds which have been contributed for the cancer research, otherwise "vivisection" of animals, and Sir Arbuthnot Lane himself recently remarked that "an enormous amount of money has been expended in investigation of minute detail with practically little or no result. It is unfortunate that as one develops a special sense, cancer would appear to lose one's common sense."

Dr. Robert Bell, another well known cancer specialist, denounces operative methods in cancer research, and advocates the use of uncooked fruits, nuts, vegetables and whole wheat bread, which contains more than double the amount of food value contained in one pound of beef. A pound of peas contains three times the value and a pound of almonds five times the value.

Cancer cannot establish itself in healthy tissue and our object should be to restore the vital energy of the body.

Dr. John Shaw, formerly vice-president of the British Gynaecological Society, recently wrote a book on "The Cancer Problem" (see Victoria Public Library) and neither The British Medical Journal nor The Lancet have ventured to challenge the statistics given in connection with his criticism of operative treatment. The Medical Times wrote "We sincerely hope that Dr. Shaw's book will have a wide circulation. The author has devoted many years to the study of cancer and his conclusions, as submitted in his book, are based on painstaking and assiduous research."

The Medical Press of June 6-23, remarked that the elusive nature of this disease "converted" the research study of its problem into an industry from which many gain a livelihood. If the cause of the disease is cancer, it is a matter of much disturbance of vested interests would follow."

There is an army of vivisectors engaged in the study of cancer, and a similar charge and also on the accusation that he defrauded Simon Tuck of $60,000 in Jacksonville. The prisoners were arrested last week by the local police in the course of their pursuit of an international wire tapping ring. The men, through their counsel, announced in court that they would fight extradition.

After plea of not guilty had been entered the court instructed local detectives to visit the Florida district and request that extradition papers be prepared. Both prisoners were reminded pending arrival of the papers.

acceptable to vested interests or those whose career depends on continuation of vivisection and the solution of the problem depends largely on education of public opinion along lines diametrically opposed to this business. It is not surprising that Viscount Harberton, who has recently published a book "The Truth About Science" levels his satire at some phases of medical art and the "knights of the ruff" who discover serums."

If we consistently practice right thinking, physiological living and sternly set our faces against the lucrative business of animal experimentation in all its branches, we shall be taking the most important steps on the road to health—a road that all the world's a-seeking! PERTINAX.

ANTI-UNITARIANS HEAR THE REPORT

Delegate to General Assembly Reports to Presbyterian Church Association

Prepare For Drive When Vote Has to be Taken

Charles A. MacKay was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Anti-Unitarian Presbyterians in St. Paul's Church, Victoria West, last night, but there was no decision made relative to future action. Mr. MacKay was a delegate to the General Assembly meeting, and returned to Victoria with a great amount of information relative to church union and a clear and interesting conception of the attitude of the majority of anti-unitarians.

He spoke in some detail of the meeting of the General Assembly and stated that the Presbyterian Church now depended entirely upon the action of the courts of Canada and the United States. The Church Union Bill had been passed, with some modifications, he asserted, for which latter Eugene Lafleur, K.C. of Montreal, one of Canada's most prominent lawyers, was largely responsible.

Mr. Lafleur made representations before the British Bill Committee, said Mr. MacKay, in Ottawa, and put his case before the members of the committee in such admirable fashion that members were won over to his views in some respects and had some status, for which the Church as a whole was very thankful.

Mr. MacKay dealt with the situation as it affected the various provinces of Canada, and brought gleanings from all parts of the Dominion.

The only probable outcome of the trouble appears to be in an entire break between the congregations which want one thing or another, stated Rev. J. S. Patterson, minister of St. Paul's Church, and the parties are now so strong and firmly supporting their views that it is well-nigh impossible for anything else to happen. The result will probably mean a union of some sort of the Presbyterian churches of Canada with the Presbyterian Church of the United States. There would be one mode of procedure, said the minister. Mr. Patterson said that it was necessary that he should keep the greater part of his ammunition for the time when the congregations would be faced with the choice of action. Then he would enter the fight with all his guns trained for action, and his magazine stored with good, fresh powder and shot. And the fight would be the more decisive.

"The division and separation of living organisms," said Mr. MacKay, in concluding his remarks, "is one of the ways ordained by the Creator in the animal world for the protection of species. Protestantism has held to this principle since the beginning of time. The one organization plan, the United Church of Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists, seems to favor the idea of having one 'no matter what happens,' said Mr. Patterson, 'the Presbyterian Church will continue to serve those who remain faithful to her, and the thousands throughout Canada who will flock to us will be welcomed as brothers seeking the true light.'

Dr. Thomas Mitchell, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers and made a few remarks relative to the subject himself. The meeting closed shortly after 10.30 o'clock.

TWO MONTREAL FIGHT EXTRADITION

Fraud Charges Against M. H. Blumenthal and G. Watson in Florida

Montreal, July 30.—Barney Goldstein, alias Abram Green, was arraigned in the extradition court here yesterday on a charge of having defrauded M. H. Blumenthal of $19,650 in St. Augustine, Fla., in January, 1922. George Watson, alias Lewis, was arraigned on a similar charge and also on the accusation that he defrauded Simon Tuck of $60,000 in Jacksonville.

The prisoners were arrested last week by the local police in the course of their pursuit of an international wire tapping ring. The men, through their counsel, announced in court that they would fight extradition.

After plea of not guilty had been entered the court instructed local detectives to visit the Florida district and request that extradition papers be prepared. Both prisoners were reminded pending arrival of the papers.

NO WATER AT HOME COUNCILIS TOLD

Taps in Beach Drive Mansion Must Run Dry, Oak Bay Council Rules

The Oak Bay Council were thrown on the horns of a dilemma last night by a request from Robert Cassidy, K.C. counsel for Mrs. Florence E. Rattenbury, petitioner in a civil court proceedings, that the water be turned off to the family residence at 1701 Beach Drive.

The municipality had turned the water off at the request of F. M. Rattenbury, respondent to the suit. The lack of water was a serious menace to health, urged Mr. Cassidy in writing.

The council declined to renew the water supply to the Rattenbury home. The owner had asked that the water be disconnected, and the council had no authority for going against such a request by the registered owner of the property.

Renewing an application opened here last week, Mr. Cassidy addressed the court in Vancouver yesterday with the same request. Mr. Justice McDonald decided that he could make no order to restore light and water to the Rattenbury home in the face of the owner's refusal to have such services. Mr. Cassidy persisted, but was told he could appeal from the order. An order for temporary financial relief had been granted petitioner, and this would have to suffice until the trial of the case, ruled the court.

HEAVY REGISTRATION AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Will be Record This Autumn; Four New Teachers to be Added to Staff

Four new teachers will be added to the High School staff this year. It was decided at a special meeting of the School Board held yesterday afternoon. The numbers passing from the graded schools to the High School this year are expected to increase in the attendance at High School, and the registration this Autumn will be the greatest in its history.

The two appointments to the staff yesterday were Miss Hazel McConnell and F. L. Campbell. Miss McConnell is the daughter of T. P. McConnell of this city, and was educated here prior to going to Vancouver to attend the University of British Columbia, from which she graduated. She has been on the staff of the King Edward High School, Vancouver, and will teach French and mathematics here. Mr. Campbell is an instructor at the Sproul-Shaw School. He will instruct in science.

HIGHER WHEAT PRICES DECLARED UNWARRANTED

London, July 30.—Sydney Webb, President of the Board of Trade, in dealing with the House of Commons yesterday with the rising flour prices, said there was no reason to anticipate the world wheat requirements would not be met until the crops of the Northern hemisphere had been harvested.

When asked if he were the Canadian crop would likely be 120,000,000 bushels more, he said it was true the Canadian crop was not so good as last year, although it was premature to give out wheat requirements would not be met until the crops of the Northern hemisphere had been harvested.

When asked if the Government proposed to interfere with the law of supply and demand, Mr. Webb said: "Certainly, with all my heart, if only I knew how to do it."

LARGE THROAT HEARS SINGERS

Arion Club Concert at Parliament Buildings Delights Hearers

A large crowd ranged about the steps of the Parliament Buildings last night to listen to the Arion Club, which is the aid of the Navy League of Canada. The throng of listeners not only packed the immediately adjacent steps but occupied vantage spots at many points on the broad lawns.

The Arion Club singers produced excellent effects, although they were not present in as large numbers as in their Winter concerts. Perhaps the most striking of their numbers was the "Archers' Marching Song" by Thayer, which was repeated at the pressing demand of the audience. The "Cavaliers' Song" sung with fine spirit, was another favorite. Other numbers which stood out in the program were: "Oley Speaks" by Sylvia, the "Soldiers' Farewell" and "Prayer" of "Thanksgiving." The choir also rendered Hatten's "When Evening's Twilight," "Has Sorrow Thy Young Day," "Dreame," "On the Sea," and "The Silver Lantana of Night."

Miss Beatrice Macdonald, the talented young soprano, assisted the choir as soloist. Her admirable voice was heard in the rendering of "Still as the Night," "The Dawn," and "Values."

George Guy's fine tenor was immediately favored with the audience in the "Sorrow Thy Young Days Shaded."

The playing of the Victoria Sea Cadets' Band under Lieut. P. A. Rayner, in the absence of Bandmaster Rumsby, was a feature of the concert. The boys gave a very creditable performance of patriotic and popular songs. Some of their numbers were "Fort Gay," "Ironclad," "Go, go," and "Mattinee." Jimmy Mossop played the cornet solo in the overture "Magna," and Stanley Cross the bass solo in "Moonbeams." In the course of the evening Mr. Rayner, in a brief address, explained the objects and work of the Navy League.

COUNT GOSTA MORNER SUES FOR DIVORCE

Count Morner and Peggy Joyce were married in Atlantic City a few weeks ago, coming to New York two days later.

VAUDEVILLE SCENE IN COURT GREETED WITH LOUD CHEERS

Bunch of Onions Figured as Bouquet in Aggressor's Assault Case

Chicago, July 30.—A wildly cheering audience yesterday greeted Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, comedienne, when they appeared on the stage of an Evanston theatre as complainants against a Cleo police man who Rosetta claimed broke her nose and rib when she attempted to argue with him on July 4 after the officer had arrested her brother for violating a traffic regulation.

An accommodating Evanston justice of the peace hired a theatre so his neighbors might witness the trial, which might well have been termed an appearance of the Duncan sisters in "Man-handled" for the audience not only sent up flowers to the stage, but cheered Rosetta's testimony despite the admonitions of the justice.

Then a bailiff brought the policeman named as the aggressor, a large bunch of onions tied with a pink ribbon and bearing a card inscribed, "From a friend," and the cheering broke out anew.

The justice, the Duncan sisters, the bailiff, newspaper reporters and photographers monopolized the stage.

The justice spent his time prior to opening the trial in the lobby and personally ushered his guests to their seats.

When the audience was assembled the justice took his place in the centre of the stage and the footlights were turned on. He then entertained a motion by an assistant state's attorney to change the wording of the complaint, and after much argument, the justice allowed the change.

Miss Rosetta Duncan's secretary "Topsy" of the stage was "joking" with the policeman about being arrested when Charles Widlock, the defendant, asserted there was no joke about it and landed a right to the policeman's jaw. Then several policemen joined in beating up her employer, she said.

Rosetta then took the stand amid cheers. She said she and other members of her party were joking about being arrested when the policeman told her it was no joke. So she told him to "keep his remarks to himself," Rosetta said, whereupon one policeman seized one of her arms and a second officer took the other. She started to fall and dragged one officer down with her. Then they started to beat her up, and one of them took a wallop at her brother, Harold, as he came to her assistance, she said. One policeman, after kicking her on the head, said, "Miss Duncan related, the chief of police of Cicero told her she didn't want any publicity and to wash off the blood and forget about it." This, she said, she refused to do.

When an assistant state's attorney went through the actions of the policeman as described by Miss Duncan, she started to cry, but desisted when the audience applauded. Court was adjourned until tomorrow, the Evanston justice announcing that he had retained the theatre for another day and inviting the audience back.

SEEK ANNULMENT OF MARRIAGE ON CATHOLIC GROUNDS

Montreal, July 30.—The case is being heard in Superior Court here today in an annulment of marriage of Paul Rose to Dame Rochon, which took place in Montreal in 1905. The grounds of the request are founded on Catholic marriage impediments, it being stipulated the marriage law of that church that no marriage may be performed between a baptized Catholic and an unbaptized person. The woman declared that Rose was unbaptized at the time of the marriage and asks the court to give civil effect to the annulment which has been obtained from ecclesiastical sources.

YOUR HEALTH

WHAT SCIENCE KNOWS ABOUT FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Every so often you read in the papers of drastic steps being taken by health authorities to prevent the spread of a disease. Recently it was necessary to destroy a valuable herd of cattle infected with foot and mouth disease.

The health authorities and the owners of the cattle agreed that the spread of this disease to other herds and the ravages it causes made it absolutely necessary to sacrifice the infected animals.

Foot and mouth disease was first introduced into the United States in 1879 when an infected herd of cattle arrived from Canada. This first epidemic was controlled by destruction of the herd.

In each succeeding epidemic the infection seems to have come through infected cattle or through the animals brought into the country.

Man acquires the disease only through direct contact with infected animals or through drinking milk from these animals.

The symptoms of foot and mouth disease in man are almost exactly the same as those in the animals. The difference is that the lesions appear principally on the fingers and nails, as well as in the throat and mouth.

Characteristic of this disease are the vesicles or blisters which appear on the skin and of the mucous membranes of the mouth and throat. The secretion is the medium that carries the infection.

In cows especially, the mouth becomes so sore the animal cannot eat. The udders are covered with vesicles. From milking the men become infected, because the secretion gets into cuts and abrasions on the hands.

Fever, general debility, upset digestion and diarrhoea are other symptoms accompanying foot and mouth disease in man.

The treatment must consist of perfect isolation of the infected person. Care of the diet is another important measure. The excreta should be destroyed, bandages or gauze used in dressings or for the purpose of expectoration should be burned.

After the routine care, fresh air, sunlight and the routine care afforded every sick person are essential if rapid and successful recovery is to be hoped for.

We are fortunate indeed that this disease is one of the few we seldom meet. If you do come in contact with it, however, I beg of you to use every precaution to guard yourself and your family from unnecessary infection.

WEATHER FORECASTS USED BY PASTOR

Minister in Large City of U.S. Regulates Publicity on Basis of Predictions

Washington, July 30.—A minister using weather forecasts to fill the attendance to the capacity of his church and the services to the mood of the congregation as affected by the weather is the latest innovation in utilizing the Government's protection of weather Bureau officials here.

The pastor of a large church in one of the large cities of the United States, whose edifice is unable to hold all that come in "good church weather," but which is not filled in inclement weather or for outdoor weather, has been told by the weather Bureau that he should not use weather forecasts to fill the attendance to the capacity of his church and the services to the mood of the congregation as affected by the weather.

Tacoma Boy Noses Out McCallum in Three-Set Battle

Deciding Set Went to 12-10 Before Visitor Gained Victory

Fine Matches During Second Day of B.C. Net Tourney; Big Crowd Attends

Perfect tennis weather greeted the competitors yesterday at the Columbia net championships being held at the courts of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. The attendance for the second day of the tournament was excellent and the stands being well crowded from early morning until the scheduled match.

In the men's singles the only upset of the day occurred when Stevens of Tacoma, beat V. Westwood of Vancouver, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. Stevens' volleying and net work in general was excellent and Westwood appeared to be unable to pass him at the net.

A MARATHON MATCH

One of the longest matches of the day took place when Hibberley, a Tacoma boy, took the measure of E. E. "Squawk" McCallum in three sets, 4-6, 8-6, 12-10. The Victoria man, though obviously tired from previous matches, took the first set, but his superior volleying ability in the second set was not enough to win when he led 5-4 and 40-30, but he was unable to get the deciding point and lost the set 8-6. The third winning set he served up to ten-all. At this point Hibberley, playing the finest and most consistent tennis of the match broke through McCallum's service to win the deciding set 12-10. In the ladies' singles Miss Brunn of San Francisco, defeated Miss Gordon of Vancouver, in a hard struggle. Miss Brunn deserves a lot of credit for the fine performance she put up. While a little more experience, Miss Brunn will undoubtedly make a fine player.

VANCOUVER LADY LOSES

Mrs. Hicks of Duncan came from behind in her match with Miss Tatlow, to win in the third set. It was only by steady, consistent play that Mrs. Hicks secured a win over the Vancouver city champion.

In the men's doubles Casey and Suhr had no difficulty in defeating their opponents, Whittle and Pierce. They showed rare form throughout the match.

In the mixed doubles Miss Suhr and Brown, the Californian pair, secured a victory over Mrs. Rickaby and Hurd in a good hard-hitting match which was featured by the serving and overhead work by Brown. Miss Tatlow and Marsh Gordon won their second round match without being extended. The matches yesterday's matches were as follows:

Men's Singles
R. Casey defeated C. S. Collison, 6-2, 6-3; E. H. List defeated H. Colman, 6-0, 7-5; N. Brown defeated R. L. Gilbert, 6-1, 6-0; C. O'Halloran defeated A. M. Gordon, 6-2, 6-0; E. E. CANADA'S PRIDE

PTE. BURKE

Although only nineteen years of age, Pte. Burke of Ottawa had the nerve to shoot his way to triumph in the greatest rifle competition in the world, the King's Prize at Bisley, Burns was two points ahead of his nearest rival, an Englishman who has been shooting for years and who once before won the prize. Burke was paid every honor after his accomplishment, being greeted by the Prince of Wales, congratulated through Lord Chelmsford by His Majesty the King, chaired and carried around the range by the other competitors, and bestowed with telegrams of praise by people from all over the world. Burke is now crossing the Atlantic and he is to be given a tremendous reception on his return to Ottawa. He will receive a scholarship from the people of the national capital and many other honors await him. By winning the King's Prize Burke received $1250.

Lacrosse Passes Away As a Sport In Capital City

Garrison Club Forced to Drop Out of Mann Cup Series; Lack of Interest

Players Are Scarce and Want Coaxing, and Public Fails to Attend

Lacrosse is doing a fade-away in Victoria.

It begins to look as though the national Summer game, which, when played properly, is a glorious sport, has sung its swan song.

As far as this season is concerned there will be no more lacrosse in Victoria. It is possible that it may be revived some future year but unless more players are brought on and less coaxing is required to get them out for practices and games it will be a very hard job to get any man or club to take hold of them.

The Garrison Games Club, which took up the Victoria franchise in the British Columbia Amateur Lacrosse League this year, has been forced to drop out. It has dropped in the neighborhood of $500 but this alone has not prompted the officials to inform the league that it will drop out of the Mann Cup series.

PLAYERS APATHETIC

"We have been unable to get some of the players to turn out for practices," remarked one of the officials this morning. "In fact we have not had a full team out for some time and the whole thing came to a climax on Saturday when we almost had to beg some of the players to turn out for the game with the North Shags Athletics of Vancouver. We did not get enough money at the gate to pay our advertising bill and under these conditions it is useless to continue."

The Garrison club went into the league for the sole purpose of keeping lacrosse alive in Victoria, and giving the Capital a team. The support from the players and public, however, has not been forthcoming, and the club has been forced to quit.

NOT GOING OVER

The Garrison club is scheduled to play in Vancouver on Saturday against the Native Sons but the league has been notified that the locals will not be on hand for the game.

Four years ago lacrosse thrived here well. The success of the Foundation team in winning the Mann Cup, emblematic of the world's amateur championship, stirred the city and great crowds attended the games. Following the passing of the Mann Cup to West Westminster the game has lost support here.

GYROS TRIED TO HELP

The Gyro Club spent $500 in an effort to foster lacrosse in the public schools. Three years ago it outfitted eleven schools with sticks. The following year but five clubs competed in the league and this year only three teams, the North Ward, Sir Arthur Currie, and the Victoria, were winners, played off for the fine Gyro Cup.

Last year a good-city and district senior league operated with four teams competing, but this year it failed to organize.

There is a great dearth of players. A number have left the city while the youngsters are not being brought on to take the place of those who have moved away.

IT WAS SLOW ENOUGH

The few people who witnessed Saturday's game here complained of the slowness of the play and the lack of interest. It is impossible to expect spectators to turn out to glimpse such exhibitions.

The fans will realize the difficulties of the Garrison club and cannot blame it for turning back the franchise to the league. Until the game can be placed on a better basis here there is little hope of it being revived.

Vancouver, July 30.—Westminster tightened its grip on the Mann and Klammock lacrosse trophies when the Royals defeated the Native Sons of Canada last night 5-2. The Royal City boys now have a long lead in the race for championship honors.

Last night's game was good in spots, fair in others and indifferent in spots, but the Sons' play around the net was concerned. They had the better of exchanges quite often and Carl Grauer had shown enough to have won in a walk if he could have fired with any accuracy.

Canadian Olympic Team Bosses Heavily Scored

Winnipeg, July 30.—Widespread dissatisfaction with the manner in which Olympic affairs have been conducted by the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union is reflected in an editorial appearing in the sport columns of the Manitoba Free Press to-day. The Dominion body is severely taken to task for its methods of selecting representatives on the Canadian Olympic team and scored for its attitude of "hostility" to certain affiliated bodies.

President Mulqueen and Captain Cornelius of the Canadian Olympic team are also assailed. The writer states that members of the team complained of mismanagement and favoritism while the athletes were abroad. "These stories are not confined to any one province but are heard from all parts of the Dominion," the article says. "Unless satisfactory explanations are forthcoming, Mulqueen and Cornelius should be thrown from office." It adds, and further suggests that if Canada is to have another Olympic team, the time is "opportune to launch upon reorganization and selection of competent men as executives of the body."

Toronto, July 30.—All was not well with the Canadian Olympic team at Paris, declared "Tony" Vince, Toronto sprinter, who returned home yesterday. Vince, who said he intends to race opposite Cyril Coaffee, the Winnipeg sprinter, in an exhibition event here this Fall, said the trip to Paris proved a rough one for the team.

Vince asserted to The Telegram that Coach Cornelius issued instructions for no one to take a rub down without seeing the head coach. This resulted in the break that caused many close moments in the training headquarters.

The other countries had their rights at the stadium with their own cooks and all personal attention. The Canadian team used two hotels in Paris, ate strange food and mounted up a huge taxi bill traveling to and from the stadium, Vince said.

Many Canadian athletes that could not stand the "pull" were nearly left stranded on a London station platform, after Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV collided with Sir Charles Callam's White Heather when both were rounding a bend in the race.

CHARGE AGAINST CANADIAN SOCCER CHAMPS BASELESS

Port Arthur, Ont., July 30.—It is reported here that inquiries are being made by certain interested parties concerning the departure from this city shortly before the Connaught Cup football games in Winnipeg of one of the most capable players on the Port Arthur team, and that the result may be a protest by the Canadian Exploits against the outcome of the series with United Westons.

Winnipeg, July 29.—"Every member of the United Weston team of Winnipeg was fully eligible for the Connaught Cup series," declared John Eason, President of the Dominion Football Association, yesterday, when shown a dispatch from Port Arthur intimating that players from this city had left for Winnipeg, ostensibly to assist Weston. Mr. Eason characterized the report as baseless and one that could only tend to arouse a spirit of ill-feeling and dissatisfaction.

A TITLE AT LAST

JOHN ANDERSON

After many years of trying, Anderson, the veteran New York amateur golfer, has won a championship. He recently defeated Cyril Tolley, the long-driving Englishman who won the French open, in the finals of the French amateur championship. This is his first major triumph. In 1910 he qualified in the U.S. amateur championship, counting Walter Travis among his conquests, but in 1913 before he reached the finals, in which he was beaten by Jerry Travers. Since then he has been striving for an honor and at last his patience has been crowned with success.

Montreal Golfer Is Crowned King Of Canadian Pros

Montreal, July 30.—A. H. Murray, Country Club, Montreal, yesterday won the professional golf championship of Canada over the Beaconsfield Club course with a score of 144 for the 36 holes.

Nicoll Thompson, Hamilton, and G. Cumming, Toronto, tied for second place with 146. Murray, who won the open championship in 1923, and was runner-up to his brother, C. R. Murray, in the provincial open tournament this year, had to play the final round of golf to win. In the morning he shot a 74, and was well down the list, the leader being Redvers Mackenzie, Marlborough, with a five 63.

In the afternoon Murray played a faultless game, being two under par. He missed a 59 when a difficult putt failed just to go down on the last green.

FELL DOWN IN AFTERNOON

Mackenzie, who after his morning round, was naturally the favorite, threw away his opportunity at the sixteenth and seventeenth greens. He took an eight on the former and six on the latter through putting his tee shots into the ditches and trying to play out instead of lifting from impossible lies.

Mr. Murray gets the cup given for the championship by P. D. Ross, Ottawa, and $500 donated by a local manufacturer, W. M. Stewart. He also gets the prize for the eighteen holes in the afternoon, the money for the best morning round going to Mr. Mackenzie.

Rev. P. E. Baister, B.D., formerly of Victoria, is at present in Juneau investigating conditions with a view to starting an English Lutheran Church similar to that founded in Prince Rupert. There are many Lutherans living in Juneau and it seems likely that a church may be organized there.

An invitation from the Victoria Real Estate Board to the reverted lands committee of the City Council to attend a luncheon meeting, has been accepted for August 6. The committee will meet at the City Council Chamber at 12.30 p.m. The subject of discussion at a recent meeting of the Real Estate Board when it was advocated that a conference should be held between members of the board and aldermen.

Charged on remand with possession of opium, in City Police Court today, Maud Delmar, William Delmar and Robert Graham were remanded after some of the evidence had been submitted, for further hearing tomorrow. Detectives McLellan and Stark told of raiding the shack owned by the accused, under Chief Fry, and of finding opium, fumes and paraphernalia. R.C. Low appears for the defence, and C. L. Harrison for the Crown.

Local Orange association members who have worked hard on behalf of the proposed new True Blue Orphanage at New Westminster will be interested in the accompanying note from The British Columbian: "Application for ten acres owned by the Provincial Government at the corner of Sixth Street and Eighth Avenue, for use as a site for a new True Blue Orphanage will be made to Victoria immediately. David Whiteside, former member of the Legislature, and Dr. E. J. Rothwell, member-elect, will also be approached with a view of securing quick action on the part of the Government in order to allow the orphanage organization to commence work as soon as possible. A letter was read at yesterday's meeting of the City Council from J. Carpenter, grand secretary of the Loyal Orange Association of British Columbia, stating that the site adjoining the city workshops on Sixth Street had been selected for the proposed children's home to replace the present one on Royal Avenue."

REV. DR. DAVIES PRAISES MOTION PICTURE AT PANTAGES

Rev. Dr. Davies, of the City Temple, praises the motion picture at Pantages, "The Shepherd King." In the following terms: "The Shepherd King" is a delightful motion picture story that follows the biblical story of King Saul and David, the shepherd king, with wonderful fidelity. I have always loved the story, and it was made still more glorious when I was initiated into the Order of Odd Fellows. This picture brings out in splendid detail all the marvelous incidents of that old story. It has always been a matter of wonder to some of us that the splendid story-resources of the Bible were not mobilized by the motion picture industry, because they have such wide appeal and nearly everybody loves them.

The motion picture story of King David, I am sure, make the greatest Old Testament figure forever live in one's memory. I hope everyone will take advantage of its appearance here and see it.

Eyes! Eyes!! Neglected Eyes!!!

Neglected eyes cause more functional disturbances of the brain and nervous system than all other causes combined. The child in arms, in school, suffers as much for the want of proper glasses as do those of more mature years.

We know that functional disturbances are responsible for organic troubles that invariably have their origin in eyes, because:

Glasses without any other form of treatment have restored thousands to health.

Mr. Burd is managing director of The Vancouver Province.

STORMY SESSION IN SAANICH COURT

Magistrate Jay Accused of Bias in Trial of Saanich Youth

Stormy proceedings featured the opening of the trial of Gerald O'Neale, a Saanich youth, charged on remand with indecent assault, in Saanich police court this morning. The accused was arrested by the Saanich police some weeks ago, and charged with a similar count. He was tried before Magistrate Jay, who returned a conviction and sentenced O'Neale to six months imprisonment.

Stard Henderson, counsel for the defence, applied to the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus and secured the release of the accused on the ground that he had been deprived on election, to trial by jury, in the lower court.

When hearing opened this morning Mr. Henderson contended that O'Neale had been re-arrested on the same charge and took objection to Magistrate Jay trying the case. Counsel for the defence charged that bias had been shown by His Worship at the first hearing when he referred to the accused in passing sentences, as a "blackguard," alleged Mr. Henderson. Mr. Henderson declared with warmth that he would apply to the Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition taking the case out of the hands of the magistrate.

The habeas corpus proceedings were taken on the ground that O'Neale had a right to election of trial by jury when charged under Section 773 of the Criminal Code unless warned by the trial judge that the charge preferred against him was of a less serious nature than that amounting to rape. In the absence of a finding by the trial court to that effect the man had been improperly sentenced, held counsel for the defence.

Meeting this explanation of the facts this morning Magistrate Jay held with all due deference to the view of the higher court, that his procedure had been perfectly regular and that no omission had been made. For seventeen years he had sat as police magistrate, which time he had made a careful study of the criminal code, continued His Worship, and in the course of that period he had dealt with similar cases in a like manner.

Two years ago, pointed out Magistrate Jay, he had sentenced an accused named Smith on a similar charge, in a similar manner. An appeal had been taken to the Supreme Court bench on the same point as raised by counsel for the defence, and the appeal had been dismissed. With every deference to the ruling of the higher court in this instance he could not ascribe to the view which had led to the release of the present accused person on habeas corpus proceedings.

E. L. Tait, for the Crown, supported Magistrate Jay in his contention that there was no lack of jurisdiction to try the accused summarily.

WHEAT AND RYE MOVES NORTHWARD U.S.

105,000 Harvesters Required
For Work in the Grain States

Topeka, Kan., July 29.—The harvester army that is now employed gathering the crops of the great central wheat belt states outnumber the entire peace time strength of the United States army. The advance guard started northward in Texas early in June, adding recruits by the thousands as the season moved into the pivotal wheat state of Kansas in mid-June, and swelling in numbers to more than 100,000 as it reached its peak activity in the summer state about July 1, according to statistics available at the State Court of Industrial Relations here.

"It requires 105,000 men to handle this harvest and provide for replacements," remarked J. H. Crawford, presiding judge. "To visualize this great army takes the imagination. Witness 162 trains, made up of ten passenger coaches and each coach carrying sixty-five men, rushing from south east and west to the points of destination. Then stand for thirty-nine hours until these men march single file past a given point and stretch along the highway a distance of seventy-eight miles. Do this and you will see the army of harvesters distributed through the wheat belt annually."

OTHER WORKERS
"In addition, the public employment service recruited 33,000 men and distributed them where needed as cotton laborers, potato pickers, corn huskers and for apple, berry and sugar beet labor, making 136,353 seasonal laborers supplied in 1923. Kansas, which grows more wheat than any other state in the nation, is harvesting approximately 8,000,000 bushels of wheat. Kansas wheat fields occupying 15,000 square miles have an area as great as the total land surface of Massachusetts. Connecticut and Delaware combined. It is estimated the total wheat area of the wheat belt states, from Texas to North Dakota, is 1,000,000 square miles. Approximately 1,000,000 square miles of the spring wheat area in the northern states the spring wheat area is 15,000 square miles, a total area of 15,000 square miles."

NEW ASIATIC ACT IN SOUTH AFRICA

Hertzog Government Plans Bill For Next Session of Parliament
Not the Intention to Put Class Areas Act in Force

Cape Town, July 29 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The Hertzog Government does not intend to proceed with the Class Areas Act passed during the Smuts administration, which provided for the setting aside of areas to be selected and supplied by local urban authorities for residential or trading purposes, or both, for a particular class of persons, namely, Asiatics.

Under the act, which is aimed particularly at Indians resident in South Africa and has caused considerable resentment among Indians generally, persons residing in the areas would be prohibited from acquiring removable property or leases of property, and there are also restrictions on trading licenses.

The Hertzog Government, it is announced, will consider the question of Asiatics in the Union after the present session of Parliament. It is expected a bill dealing with the question will be introduced.

RUSSIANS TO JOIN THE RADIO CIRCLE

Soviet Government Encourage People to Put Sets in Homes

Moscow, July 29.—Soviet Russia will join the other countries in broadcasting news, speeches and entertainment programmes to the public, and the Council of Commissars is expected shortly to issue a decree permitting the installation of receiving sets in homes at a moderate license fee.

The Government will not only allow radio users to construct their own receiving sets, but will undertake to manufacture amateur apparatus for Russia's millions. This will require an entirely new industry, and the Government hopes it will stimulate the development of electrical science and provide work for state factories which are running at reduced capacity.

The higher salaried officials will lose one-quarter of their pay, the ten per cent. reduction being applicable to the lower clerks. Between these two extremes officials and office employees are reduced according to their salaries.

Officials of the general office staff say the reduction will be in force while the present depression lasts and it is understood the former salaries will be restored when times get better.

tioned Barry to a chair.

"I'm sorry, I have only fifteen minutes to spare. George is calling for me at seven."

"I shan't detain you long," Barry waited formally for her to be seated. "May I smoke?" It's not an easy thing I have to say, rather like going over the top, you know, so I'm bracing myself with a fog."

She waited silently, not helping him at all with the thing she knew he had come to discuss.

"As I mentioned before, I have just had Mother, Hugh has just arrived and I went over to see her. She's a trifle anxious. But her distress on Hugh's account isn't comparable with her anxiety over you."

"Mother tells me that you—you want Trent."

Natalie's eyes drooped. She remained silent, playing with her hair. "Is that true?" he asked.

She raised her eyes and he fairly started at the black distress he saw there.

"Oh, Barry, I don't know! I'm helpless! I am being swept away by something that is too big for me. I hate it, and yet I can't resist it."

She flung out her hands appealingly, desperately.

"Don't you suppose I know what George is? Don't you suppose I hate myself? And yet I haven't the power to stop!"

She was looking at her searchingly. She knew that the moment she had played for had arrived. All the past weeks had been preliminary to this climax. She had been waiting for this.

"Let's get this straight," he said slowly. "You love Trent?"

"I wonder if I do," she said slowly. "Oh, what is this overpowering force which has taken possession of me? I suppose its love. I suppose the inability to resist some-thing I don't want to resist."

She raised her eyes appealingly to his. He was frowning, thoughtfully.

"It isn't my interpretation. Love is a very different thing to my mind. Love is a feeling, a desire, a longing. You see, Natalie, you never loved me—Oh, no, you didn't!"

He insisted at her faint gesture of dissent. "You thought you did. You had known me all your life. We were pals, like brother and sister. You let yourself drift into the deeper relationship. I let myself drift into yours. You should come to find a new and amazing emotion."

"You—you don't mind?" she said faintly, her heart fairly crying aloud for a protest from him.

But he only said: "I have no right to mind," as you call it, Natalie. Let us talk and think of you and Trent. Natalie, girl, I'm sorry that it had to be Trent."

"You mean because of his reputation?"

"Just that. I don't believe he can ever make you happy, if—if things are adjusted to your satisfaction. He has broken the hearts of many women who have been infatuated with him, just as you are. Will you be willing to risk it? Do you really want to give up your freedom to marry him? I should hate that."

"Oh, no, no," she cried out quickly. "Not that! Oh, save me from that. It would ruin my life."

He rose and stood over her, puzzled.

"Then what do you want, Natalie?"

He lids dropped. She drew a deep breath, made a little helpless gesture. "I don't know."

He leaned over her, took her two hands in a grip that hurt.

"Natalie," he said hoarsely, "you don't mean you can't meet that you're willing to go on with this flirtation."

She rested her face against their clasped hands.

"Help me," the words were muffled to a whisper, but the poignancy of their appeal gripped him.

"What am I going to do? What is the end of it all for me?"

She flung back her head suddenly. Words seemed to tumble from her lips.

"I don't know what's happened to me. I never felt like this before, never! It's as though it were some-thing else doing all the things which I determine, being, feeling, thinking, and disloyal to those who love me. I think some evil spell must have been laid on me in Italy. I am like a leaf blown in this relationship over you without thought of myself. You trust me, Natalie."

She bowed her head in assent. "Then listen to what I have to say."

view-to-day said economic and social conditions in the United States offered the first problem with which the administration should cope, rather than the state of Europe.

"There is," he said, "a prevalent spirit of unrest. Twenty per cent of the farmers are bankrupt, the coal mines are largely closed down, in that only enough coal to meet present requirements is being moved, and many of our steel mills are shut also. The result is that we have a more serious unemployment condition on our hands than since the pre-war period."

"How do you propose to remedy it?" he was asked.

"By suitable social and economic adjustment," Mr. Stone of the Committee on the Unemployed, said.

"The Government should give more attention to this before interfering in European affairs."

London, July 30.—The British Government has determined to alter the entire system of Dominion representation, the Secretary for the Colonies declared yesterday in the House of Commons during the discussion on the vote for the Colonial Office.

Mr. Stone of the Committee on the Unemployed, said the system of Dominion representation at the present Inter-allied Conference was not satisfactory and the Government had decided to invite the Dominions to send representatives to a conference which would examine the entire situation and avoid the difficulties hitherto encountered. It was hoped the conference could be held in October.

When the vote for the Colonial Office came up in the House to-night, Right Hon. L. C. Amery, former First Lord of the Admiralty, raised the question of representation of the Dominions in deciding on the British Empire's foreign policy at international conferences. He thought it was a little unfortunate that this question of representation for the Dominions should have arisen in connection with the present Inter-allied Conference so soon after the Lusitania Treaty incident. The make-shift arrangement adopted at the last moment was unsatisfactory, he added, because of the panel system adopted. The representation should be on a footing of equality. The spirit of equality and the status between nations and the Empire were being violated if the United Kingdom had a representative continuously at the conference and Dominions had only partial representation through the panel.

"We ought to make it clear to the rest of the world," asserted Mr. Amery, "that they must take the British Empire as they find it and we cannot diminish the status of our own Dominions merely in order to meet the conveniences of other powers."

LLOYD GEORGE'S VIEW

Lloyd George agreed as to the importance of the matter of Dominion representation. He pointed out the very great difference in the position of the Dominions as a result of their sacrifices in the great war. It was very important, he continued, that the Dominions should feel that whatever policy was to be decided upon, we should take them into our councils as far as geographical conditions warranted."

FREE FROM PARTISANISM

After a brief reference to the Lusitania controversy, Mr. Thomas said the very fact that in the Canadian Parliament the Prime Minister had discussed three alternatives, one of which was free from all party considerations of any kind.

The Colonial Secretary read a telegram he had sent to the Dominions on June 23, in which he had mentioned the Government's concern regarding the inadequacy of the present system of consideration with self-governing parts of the Empire on matters of foreign policy and general Imperial interests. The dispatch said:

"We fully accept the principle of the necessity for effective arrangement for continuous consultation in all important matters of common Imperial concern and for such necessary concerted action founded on consultation as the several governments may determine."

OPINIONS INVITED

The dispatch also pointed out the difficulties in connection with the foreign policy conference and the fate of conclusions arrived at on subjects of political controversy which were likely to be reversed through changes of governments.

The dispatch invited views and said the Government was of an open mind and merely exploring the situation.
